
2 Some early textual traditions (e.g., P45; and a number of minuscules f13 et al.) actually read “Jesus, the son of the carpenter.” Cf. Francis J. Moloney, The Gospel of Mark: A Commentary (Peabody, MA: Hendrickson, 2002), 112 n.212

8 Hirschfeld, The Palestinian Dwelling, 227, notes that masons were often called “craftsmen.”
